

Root cause analysis Podcast

Cate Malone with University of Technology Sydney

In a continued effort to strengthen the link between industry and academia, we've been working closely with the UTS Health Faculty to co-produce a set of informative and educational podcasts that focus on the subject of Root Cause Analysis. This particular area is explored in further details as part of the Improving Safety and Quality in Healthcare subject that features in both the Masters of Advanced Nursing and Health Service Management postgraduate offerings at UTS Online
